We Advertise the Truth — The Truth Advertises Us.

As the Immortal Emerson said:

"If a man can write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse trap than his neighbors, though he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."

The truth of this famous sentence has seldom been illustrated more clearly than in the history of our Company.

Although we started in a small way, the business has grown beyond all our expectations, and from our modest beginning it has grown to its present large proportions. We have put into it the magnet which has led the world to make a beaten path to our door. We gave to it then, as we give to it now, the spirit of doing things BETTER. Today we stand the acknowledged leader in this class of goods. This same spirit has enabled us to more than double our business during the past year.

We are now enlarging our factory to more than double its present capacity which will allow us to again double our business the coming year. Our facilities for producing this class of houses is equal to anything in the country, our factory being splendidly adapted for our business, situated on a spur track of the Railroad, which connects us with the largest lumber mills in the country, thus giving us splendid facilities for receiving stock and shipping goods.

Business men everywhere have studied our business to find out the secret behind its extraordinary success. There is no secret. The reason for its success is as clear as daylight.

Success Came from Doing Things Better than Anyone Else.

Mr. S. D. Bradley, himself the founder of the business, and still in personal touch with every department of its splendid service, gives the reason for its growth in a few words :

"The business has grown so remarkably," he says, "because I have made it my aim to give better houses at less money than the people can get elsewhere. I have seen to it that the quality of the houses is the best available. I have seen to it that we sell only at low prices, and that the goods are delivered as they should be."

We have specialized on our business, and we have given the public the benefit of our experience, of our ability to purchase at lowest prices, of our low overhead charges, and of all our knowledge in handling merchandise. That is the secret."

Through the mail order department, our firm reaches more people than ever before. To mail order customers, we give the same quality of service as is given to those who come and select their goods personally at the factory.
